

DRAMA TARGETS

for Elementary Students (DR 1300-1360)

Practice Develops Confidence

This space is for the student's imagination

CORE CURRICULUM

Learning Goals in the Fine Arts

To: Parents and Teachers

Study in the arts is an essential means---not an end---to acquiring thinking skills, creativity, the ability to change, and the facility to teach oneself. In a safe, nurturing environment, the arts enable students to express their feelings, communicate thoughts, explore their creativity, solve problems, communicate ideas, develop a sense of community, and appreciate themselves as participants in history, tradition, and culture. Learning in art, dance, drama, film, and music advances and strengthens motor skills, promotes considerate behavior, ability to work well with others, self-discipline, perception, and sensitivity. Fine Arts experiences contribute to the developmental process of understanding one another and naturally motivate students in all their learning.

Goals have been developed to guide learning and instruction in each of the Fine Arts areas of study. Parents are provided with copies of these goals to familiarize themselves with their child's learning and progress. Students are encouraged to use them to evaluate their own advancement. Teachers use them as tools to lead, monitor, and document development in the artform.

The Elementary Fine Arts Core packet for each artform and grade level includes the cover, learning targets, instructional resources, scope and sequence chart, teacher overview, and a teacher edition of the targets page. The Secondary Fine Arts Curriculum for each Core course includes an overview cover, learning objectives, and a parent/student/teacher communication page.

Please visit <http://www.usoe.k12.ut.us/curr/FineArt/> for further information.

K-6 Drama Scope and Sequence

Understanding and Skill development is seldom on grade level for a class or for individuals within a class. Below are the suggested target understandings and skills for each grade level. If you find that your students are not performing at the indicated level then review as many of the skills and related understandings contained in the levels above as necessary to bring them to grade level ability. All skills below grade level where objective is introduced need to be repeatedly demonstrated.

| | ANALYZING | PRACTICING | CONSTRUCTING | APPLYING |
|----------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| K | Listen attentively to a story read aloud. Ask about anything not understood. Talk about what happened in the story. | Practice relaxing and concentrating. Practice visualizing and imagining. Practice moving and balancing in space. Practice imitating life – animals, people, sounds, shapes, and actions. | Do in-role sounds/movements. Do in-role appropriate actions. Evaluate work and improve. | Likes and dislikes in a story. Discuss read aloud versus recording. |
| 1 | Listen attentively to a live storyteller. List in order the events in a story or play. Listen and watch attentively to the performances of others. | Practice warm-up rituals. Practice moving body parts in isolation. Practice imitating characters from an illustrated storybook. | Create a story told by using pantomime. Create a story using puppets. | Discuss “why” one likes a story. Discuss “read to you” versus a story told by a live storyteller. |
| 2 | Discuss the beginning, middle, and end. Identify the main conflict or a character’s major obstacle in a novel or play. Identify the overall message in a novel or play. | Practice enhancing vocal skills – all involved can hear and understand. Practice enhancing movement skills to communicate clear character intentions. | Create a new conflict scene with dialogue using characters from a well-known story or play. Create a story using masks. | Discuss the similarities and differences – story versus daily life. Discuss cultures found in stories versus one’s own culture. |
| 3 | Discuss any complications appearing after the main conflict is established. Discuss the terms protagonist and antagonist as used in a story or play. | Practice sensory recall for all five senses. Practice planning and performing dialogue scenes between at least two characters. | Create improvised scenes where sensory recall is important. Create several complications to add to an existing dramatization. | Keep a sensory journal – 5 senses. Discuss many cultures and historical periods versus daily life. |
| 4 | Discuss the levels of suspense in a novel or play. Analyze dramatic unity in a novel or play; interrelating all characters, situations, and locations. Identify the overall meaning in a novel or play. | Practice planning and playing scenes with three or more characters in a place with a problem to solve (group conflict). Practice planning and playing scenes that demonstrate several levels of suspense. | Create dramatizations that explore strong moods and feelings. Construct dramatizations for 3 or more characters using dramatic unity – interrelating all characters, situations, and locations. | Discuss how and why people respond – live versus electronic media. Discuss feelings in books and plays versus. feelings in daily life. |
| 5 | Analyze character function in a novel or play. Analyze character motivation in a novel or play. | Practice emotional recall – connecting to mood and the given circumstances. Practice transforming a space into a drama world or play setting. | Construct dramatizations that reveal how character motivation influences action & outcome. Transform the drama space into a play setting using transformational objects. Collaborate to write an original play script. | Compare and contrast character motivation in a novel or play with personal motivation in daily life. Compare and contrast settings found in novels and plays with settings in daily life. |
| 6 | Analyze published play scripts. Analyze a live theatre production or a theatre production seen on electronic media. | Practicing researching and building dramas from many cultures & times. Practice collaborating on performance & production skills (ensemble). | Create a design concept using concrete and symbolic elements. Create rehearse and perform an original script. | Explain how the world of a play is similar to or different from daily life. Discuss the influence and role of drama in our lives today. Brainstorm how drama might help resolve community problems. |

Elementary (K-6) Drama Core Curriculum Overview

The Drama curriculum is written to facilitate the teaching and learning of theatre as an artform. In grades K-6, the term “drama” rather than “theatre” is used to emphasize process over product. Four standards are included: analyzing drama, practicing drama, making drama (which becomes constructing drama in grades 3-6), and applying drama. These standards are the essential dramatic processes and may be addressed in isolation or combination in every drama lesson plan. The instructional emphasis is always on engaging the child in process thinking like a theatre artist. Drama classes may last from 15 to 90 minutes based on grade level, amount of curriculum integration, and complexity. Lesson plans range from simple drama exercises to fully developed classroom dramatizations that may take days or weeks to complete. Productions mounted in the name of the Theatre Core should include ALL children in a particular classroom or project. Any audition-based productions should be co-curricular or extra-curricular in nature.

Elementary Drama Standards

Standard One: Analyzing Drama

The student refines the analyzing phase of the drama process through the development of listening, observing, questioning, and examining skills when responding to a dramatic context in the form of a story, book, play script, or dramatic improvisation. Analyzing drama skills leads to both a personal and a collective sense of meaning about the dramatic context being examined. Empirical research supports the contention that the overall drama process—the study of the human condition through the art form - greatly motivates the analytical thinking process, which leads to the development of specific life skills such as divergent or complex thinking skills, and collaboration skills – put succinctly, it leads to the development of the whole child.

Standard Two: Practicing Drama

The student refines the practicing drama phase of the drama process through the development of specific skills (techniques) essential to the art form - such skills or techniques include relaxing, concentrating, visualizing (imagination), moving, speaking (communicating), imitating, recalling (senses and emotions), transforming (space and body), characterizing, performing (staying in the scene), and producing (thinking like a theatre artist). Practicing drama skills leads to a personal and collective sense of ability (virtuosity at its highest level) to represent the human condition in performance. Empirical research supports the contention that practicing drama skills significantly enhances self-esteem and self-worth, which leads to the development of empathy - the cornerstone of effective communication, also a life skill essential to development of the whole child.

Standard Three: Making or Constructing Drama

The student refines the making (K-2) or the constructing (3-6) drama phase through the development of specific skills that engage the participant in the act of a transforming a dramatic context into a live dramatization. Empirical research supports the contention that making or constructing drama significantly builds reflective behavior (an awareness of consequences), moral reasoning skills, and divergent and creative thinking skills – all of which connect directly to the specific life skills of complex thinking, collaboration, and character development/ethics – and all essential to the “making” of the whole child.

Standard Four: Applying Drama

The student refines the applying drama phase through the development of an ability to explain personal preferences and make connections between constructed meanings (artistic metaphor) and life itself, including cultural, communal and historical (past, present, or future) comparisons, from interactions with live theatre, television/film, and all forms electronic media. Empirical research supports the contention that the ability to apply drama to life leads to significantly more effective life long learning skills, more responsible citizenship, and higher employability – all essential life skills in the development of the whole child.

Student _____ Teacher _____

Kindergarten Drama Targets

= Work in Progress

= Competency Achieved

| ANALYZING DRAMA Students will analyze plot, performance, and production. | PRACTICING DRAMA Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work. |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Listen to a story read aloud and talk about what happened in the story. <input type="checkbox"/> Ask about anything in the story not understood. | <input type="checkbox"/> Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining. <input type="checkbox"/> Explore moving through space. <input type="checkbox"/> Imitate life; animal sounds, shapes, and movements. |
| CONSTRUCTING DRAMA Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work. | APPLYING DRAMA Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Create sounds and movements for a character. <input type="checkbox"/> Create appropriate actions for a character (given circumstances). <input type="checkbox"/> Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand). | <input type="checkbox"/> Talk about a favorite character or event in a story and why it was a favorite. <input type="checkbox"/> Talk about the differences between hearing a story read live and hearing a story from a recording. |

Student, Parent, and Teacher Drama K-3 Resources

The Drama Core builds a bridge between play and learning. In the years before kindergarten, when blankets thrown over tables became dangerous caves and parents' old clothes grew into brave, new explorers, playing at drama taught us about being human. Beginning with kindergarten, the drama core helps us learn how to work together when we are people in a place with a problem to solve. Walking in the shoes of others helps us understand others and participate successfully in the making of a neighborhood - be it of people next door or people around the world.

McCaslin, Nellie. Creative Drama in the Classroom and Beyond. New York: Longman, Inc., 2000. (ISBN: 0-8013-3073-4)

Annotation: Nellie takes the teacher from hands on simple drama activities through the "how to" skills of putting on a play. Her lesson plan ideas are richly based in children's literature, demanding a continuous application of reading and writing skills along with the drama skills that provide K-6 students with an exciting learning medium.

Wills, Barbara Salisbury. Theatre Arts in the Elementary Classroom: Kindergarten through Grade Three. New Orleans, LA: Anchorage Press, Inc., 1996. (ISBN: 0-87602-033-3)

Annotation: Where Nellie McCaslin is comprehensive, Wills is grade specific in her presentation of drama curriculum ideas and skills for the K-6 classroom.

Heinig, Ruth Beall. Improvisation with Favorite Tales: Integrating Drama into the Reading/Writing Classroom. Portsmouth, NH: Heinemann, 1992. (ISBN: 0-435-08609-X)

Annotation: An absolutely brilliant resource of drama strategies to use with fairy-tales in the K-3 grades. Heinig also provides teachers with a large bibliography of different versions of each story, which will allow an awareness of diversity in style, presentation, culture, and genre.

For resources visit the Fine Arts Web Page
<http://www.usoe.k12.ut.us/curr/fineart>

Kindergarten

Teacher Edition

Classroom Teacher _____ Year _____

| | | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Key: Students  = Work in Progress  = Competency Achieved | Teachers Mtns =  = Stars | Students' Final Results  Mountains  Stars |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

ANALYZING DRAMA

Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.

 Listen to a story read aloud and talk about what happened in the story.

 Ask about anything in the story not understood.

PRACTICING DRAMA

Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.

 Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.

 Explore moving through space.

 Imitate life; animal sounds, shapes, and movements.

CONSTRUCTING DRAMA

Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.

 Create sounds and movements for a character.

 Create appropriate actions for a character (given circumstances).

 Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand).

APPLYING DRAMA

Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.

 Talk about a favorite character or event in a story and why it was a favorite.

 Talk about the differences between hearing a story read live and hearing a story from a recording.

Student _____ Teacher _____

First Grade Drama Targets

= Work in Progress

= Competency Achieved

| ANALYZING DRAMA Students will analyze plot, performance, and production. | PRACTICING DRAMA Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work. |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Listen to a storyteller (no book) and talk about what happened in the story. <input type="checkbox"/> List in order the events in a story. <input type="checkbox"/> Identify and ask about anything in the story not understood. | <input type="checkbox"/> Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining. <input type="checkbox"/> Practice moving parts of the body in isolation – arm, leg, head, hand, etc. <input type="checkbox"/> Imitate characters illustrated in storybooks. <input type="checkbox"/> Speak loud enough when performing for all to hear. |
| CONSTRUCTING DRAMA Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work. | APPLYING DRAMA Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Create appropriate actions for a character (given circumstances). <input type="checkbox"/> Create a story told by using pantomime only. <input type="checkbox"/> Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand). | <input type="checkbox"/> Retell a favorite part from a story and talk about why it was a favorite part. <input type="checkbox"/> Compare and contrast the performance of a live storyteller with the performance of a video-recorded storyteller. |

Student, Parent, and Teacher Drama K-3 Resources

The Drama Core builds a bridge between play and learning. In the years before kindergarten, when blankets thrown over tables became dangerous caves and parents' old clothes grew into brave, new explorers, playing at drama taught us about being human. Beginning with kindergarten, the drama core helps us learn how to work together when we are people in a place with a problem to solve. Walking in the shoes of others helps us understand others and participate successfully in the making of a neighborhood - be it of people next door or people around the world.

McCaslin, Nellie. Creative Drama in the Classroom and Beyond. New York: Longman, Inc., 2000. (ISBN: 0-8013-3073-4)

Annotation: Nellie takes the teacher from hands on simple drama activities through the "how to" skills of putting on a play. Her lesson plan ideas are richly based in children's literature, demanding a continuous application of reading and writing skills along with the drama skills that provide K-6 students with an exciting learning medium.

Wills, Barbara Salisbury. Theatre Arts in the Elementary Classroom: Kindergarten through Grade Three. New Orleans, LA: Anchorage Press, Inc., 1996. (ISBN: 0-87602-033-3)

Annotation: Where Nellie McCaslin is comprehensive, Wills is grade specific in her presentation of drama curriculum ideas and skills for the K-6 classroom.

Heinig, Ruth Beall. Improvisation with Favorite Tales: Integrating Drama into the Reading/Writing Classroom. Portsmouth, NH: Heinemann, 1992. (ISBN: 0-435-08609-X)

Annotation: An absolutely brilliant resource of drama strategies to use with fairy-tales in the K-3 grades. Heinig also provides teachers with a large bibliography of different versions of each story, which will allow an awareness of diversity in style, presentation, culture, and genre.

For resources visit the Fine Arts Web Page
<http://www.usoe.k12.ut.us/curr/fineart>

First Grade

Classroom Teacher _____ Year _____

Teacher Edition

| | | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Key: Students  = Work in Progress  = Competency Achieved | Teachers Mtns =  = Stars | Students' Final Results  Mountains  Stars |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

| | |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ANALYZING DRAMA Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.  Listen to a storyteller (no book) and talk about what happened in the story.  List in order the events in a story.  Identify and ask about anything in the story not understood. | PRACTICING DRAMA Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.  Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.  Practice moving parts of the body in isolation – arm, leg, head, hand, etc.  Imitate characters illustrated in storybooks.  Speak loud enough when performing for all to hear. |
| CONSTRUCTING DRAMA Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.  Create appropriate actions for a character (given circumstances).  Create a story told by using pantomime only.  Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand). | APPLYING DRAMA Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.  Retell a favorite part from a story and talk about why it was a favorite part.  Compare and contrast the performance of a live storyteller with the performance of a video-recorded storyteller. |

Student _____ Teacher _____

Second Grade Drama Targets

= Work in Progress

= Competency Targets

ANALYZING DRAMA

Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.

☐

Discuss the beginning, middle, and end in a story.

☐

List in order the events in a story.

☐

Identify and ask about anything in the story not understood.

PRACTICING DRAMA

Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.

☐

Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.

☐

Practice moving parts of the body in isolation – arm, leg, head, hand, etc.

☐

Imitate characters illustrated in storybooks.

☐

Speak loud enough when performing for all to hear.

CONSTRUCTING DRAMA

Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.

☐

Create appropriate actions for a character (given circumstances).

☐

Create a story told by using pantomime only.

☐

Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand).

APPLYING DRAMA

Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.

☐

Retell a favorite part from a story and talk about why it was a favorite part.

☐

Compare and contrast the performance of a live storyteller with the performance of a video-recorded storyteller.

Student, Parent, and Teacher Drama K-3 Resources

The Drama Core builds a bridge between play and learning. In the years before kindergarten, when blankets thrown over tables became dangerous caves and parents' old clothes grew into brave, new explorers, playing at drama taught us about being human. Beginning with kindergarten, the drama core helps us learn how to work together when we are people in a place with a problem to solve. Walking in the shoes of others helps us understand others and participate successfully in the making of a neighborhood - be it of people next door or people around the world.

McCaslin, Nellie. Creative Drama in the Classroom and Beyond. New York: Longman, Inc., 2000. (ISBN: 0-8013-3073-4)

Annotation: Nellie takes the teacher from hands on simple drama activities through the "how to" skills of putting on a play. Her lesson plan ideas are richly based in children's literature, demanding a continuous application of reading and writing skills along with the drama skills that provide K-6 students with an exciting learning medium.

Wills, Barbara Salisbury. Theatre Arts in the Elementary Classroom: Kindergarten through Grade Three. New Orleans, LA: Anchorage Press, Inc., 1996. (ISBN: 0-87602-033-3)

Annotation: Where Nellie McCaslin is comprehensive, Wills is grade specific in her presentation of drama curriculum ideas and skills for the K-6 classroom.

Heinig, Ruth Beall. Improvisation with Favorite Tales: Integrating Drama into the Reading/Writing Classroom. Portsmouth, NH: Heinemann, 1992. (ISBN: 0-435-08609-X)

Annotation: An absolutely brilliant resource of drama strategies to use with fairy-tales in the K-3 grades. Heinig also provides teachers with a large bibliography of different versions of each story, which will allow an awareness of diversity in style, presentation, culture, and genre.

For resources visit the Fine Arts Web Page
<http://www.usoe.k12.ut.us/curr/fineart>

Second Grade

Teacher Edition

| | | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Key: Students  = Work in Progress  = Competency Achieved | Teachers Mtns =  = Stars | Students' Final Results  Mountains  Stars |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

ANALYZING DRAMA

Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.

-  Discuss the beginning, middle, and end in a story.
-  List in order the events in a story.
-  Identify and ask about anything in the story not understood.

PRACTICING DRAMA

Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.

-  Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.
-  Practice moving parts of the body in isolation – arm, leg, head, hand, etc.
-  Imitate characters illustrated in storybooks.
-  Speak loud enough when performing for all to hear.

CONSTRUCTING DRAMA

Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.

-  Create appropriate actions for a character (given circumstances).
-  Create a story told by using pantomime only.
-  Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand).

APPLYING DRAMA

Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.

-  Retell a favorite part from a story and talk about why it was a favorite part.
-  Compare and contrast the performance of a live storyteller with the performance of a video-recorded storyteller.

Student _____ Teacher _____

Third Grade Drama Targets

= Work in Progress

= Competency Achieved

ANALYZING DRAMA

Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.

☐

Discuss plot elements, including any complications beyond the main conflict.

☐

Discuss protagonist and antagonist in a story.

☐

Identify the main meaning of a story.

☐

Ask about anything in the story not understood.

PRACTICING DRAMA

Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.

☐

Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.

☐

Practice movement, vocal and characterization skills (transformation).

☐

Practice using (recalling) all five senses while in-role.

☐

Practice planning dialogue between two characters (ensemble).

CONSTRUCTING DRAMA

Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.

☐

Create improvised scenes where sensory recall is very important.

☐

Create new complications to add to a known story.

☐

Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand).

APPLYING DRAMA

Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.

☐

Keep a personal sensory journal of interesting smells, tastes, touches, sights, and sounds; recall and discuss feelings generated by these experiences.

☐

Discuss major conflicts and added complications people deal with in real life.

Student, Parent, and Teacher Drama K-3 Resources

The Drama Core builds a bridge between play and learning. In the years before kindergarten, when blankets thrown over tables became dangerous caves and parents' old clothes grew into brave, new explorers, playing at drama taught us about being human. Beginning with kindergarten, the drama core helps us learn how to work together when we are people in a place with a problem to solve. Walking in the shoes of others helps us understand others and participate successfully in the making of a neighborhood - be it of people next door or people around the world.

McCaslin, Nellie. Creative Drama in the Classroom and Beyond. New York: Longman, Inc., 2000. (ISBN: 0-8013-3073-4)

Annotation: Nellie takes the teacher from hands on simple drama activities through the "how to" skills of putting on a play. Her lesson plan ideas are richly based in children's literature, demanding a continuous application of reading and writing skills along with the drama skills that provide K-6 students with an exciting learning medium.

Wills, Barbara Salisbury. Theatre Arts in the Elementary Classroom: Kindergarten through Grade Three. New Orleans, LA: Anchorage Press, Inc., 1996. (ISBN: 0-87602-033-3)

Annotation: Where Nellie McCaslin is comprehensive, Wills is grade specific in her presentation of drama curriculum ideas and skills for the K-6 classroom.

Heinig, Ruth Beall. Improvisation with Favorite Tales: Integrating Drama into the Reading/Writing Classroom. Portsmouth, NH: Heinemann, 1992. (ISBN: 0-435-08609-X)

Annotation: An absolutely brilliant resource of drama strategies to use with fairy-tales in the K-3 grades. Heinig also provides teachers with a large bibliography of different versions of each story, which will allow an awareness of diversity in style, presentation, culture, and genre.

For resources visit the Fine Arts Web Page
<http://www.usoe.k12.ut.us/curr/fineart>

Third Grade

Teacher Edition

| | | |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Key: Students  = Work in Progress  = Competency Achieved | Teachers Mtns =  = Stars | Students' Final Results  Mountains  Stars |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

| | |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ANALYZING DRAMA Students will analyze plot, performance, and production. | PRACTICING DRAMA Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work. |
|  Discuss plot elements, including any complications beyond the main conflict.  Discuss protagonist and antagonist in a story.  Identify the main meaning of a story.  Ask about anything in the story not understood. |  Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.  Practice movement, vocal and characterization skills (transformation).  Practice using (recalling) all five senses while in-role.  Practice planning dialogue between two characters (ensemble). |
| CONSTRUCTING DRAMA Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work. | APPLYING DRAMA Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts. |
|  Create improvised scenes where sensory recall is very important.  Create new complications to add to a known story.  Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand). |  Keep a personal sensory journal of interesting smells, tastes, touches, sights, and sounds; recall and discuss feelings generated by these experiences.  Discuss major conflicts and added complications people deal with in real life. |

Student _____ Teacher _____

Fourth Grade Drama Targets

= Work in Progress

= Competency Achieved

ANALYZING DRAMA

Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.

☐

Discuss plot elements and meaning.

☐

Discuss the levels of suspense in a novel or play.

☐

Analyze dramatic unity in a novel or play.

☐

Ask about anything in a novel or play not understood.

PRACTICING DRAMA

Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.

☐

Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.

☐

Practice movement, vocal and characterization skills (transformation).

☐

Practice planning scenes containing three or more characters facing a challenging problem with varying levels of suspense (ensemble).

CONSTRUCTING DRAMA

Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.

☐

Construct dramatizations for three or more characters where all the characters, the situation, and the location all interrelate (dramatic unity).

☐

Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand).

APPLYING DRAMA

Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.

☐

Discuss how and why people respond differently to novels or plays read silently, performed live, or experienced through electronic media (movies).

☐

Compare and contrast feelings generated by novels and plays versus feelings generated by live interaction with people.

Student, Parent, and Teacher Drama 4-6 Resources

The Drama Core builds a bridge between play and learning. In the years before kindergarten, when blankets thrown over tables became dangerous caves and parents' old clothes grew into brave, new explorers, playing at drama taught us about being human. Beginning with kindergarten, the drama core helps us learn how to work together when we are people in a place with a problem to solve. Walking in the shoes of others helps us understand others and participate successfully in the making of a neighborhood - be it of people next door or people around the world.

McCaslin, Nellie. Creative Drama in the Classroom and Beyond. New York: Longman, Inc., 2000. (ISBN: 0-8013-3073-4)

Annotation: Nellie takes the teacher from hands on simple drama activities through the "how to" skills of putting on a play. Her lesson plan ideas are richly based in children's literature, demanding a continuous application of reading and writing skills along with the drama skills that provide K-6 students with an exciting learning medium.

Wills, Barbara Salisbury. Theatre Arts in the Elementary Classroom: Grade Four through Grade Six. New Orleans, LA: Anchorage Press, Inc., 1996. (ISBN: 0-87602-034-3)

Annotation: Where Nellie McCaslin is comprehensive, Wills is grade specific in her presentation of drama curriculum ideas and skills for the K-6 classroom.

O'Neill, Cecily & Lambert, Alan. Drama Structures. Portsmouth, NH: Heinemann, 1990. (ISBN: 0-435-08608-1)

Annotation: The easy to follow "process drama" strategies presented in this book will allow teachers in grades 4-6 to easily integrate curricular content from social studies and state, national and world history through "process drama." This is a wonderful but somewhat advanced methods book.

For resources visit the Fine Arts Web Page
<http://www.usoe.k12.ut.us/curr/fineart>

Classroom Teacher _____ Year _____

Fourth Grade

Teacher Edition

| | | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Key: Students  = Work in Progress  = Competency Achieved | Teachers Mtns =  = Stars | Students' Final Results  Mountains  Stars |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

| | |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ANALYZING DRAMA Students will analyze plot, performance, and production. | PRACTICING DRAMA Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work. |
|  Discuss plot elements and meaning.  Discuss the levels of suspense in a novel or play.  Analyze dramatic unity in a novel or play.  Ask about anything in a novel or play not understood. |  Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.  Practice movement, vocal and characterization skills (transformation).  Practice planning scenes containing three or more characters facing a challenging problem with varying levels of suspense (ensemble). |
| CONSTRUCTING DRAMA Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work. | APPLYING DRAMA Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts. |
|  Construct dramatizations for three or more characters where all the characters, the situation, and the location all interrelate (dramatic unity).  Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand). |  Discuss how and why people respond differently to novels or plays read silently, performed live, or experienced through electronic media (movies).  Compare and contrast feelings generated by novels and plays versus feelings generated by live interaction with people. |

Student _____ Teacher _____

Fifth Grade Drama Targets

= Work in Progress

= Competency Achieved

ANALYZING DRAMA

Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.

☐

Discuss plot elements (main characters, suspense, unity, and meaning in a novel or play).

☐

Analyze character function and motivation in a novel or play.

☐

Ask about anything in a novel or play not understood.

PRACTICING DRAMA

Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.

☐

Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.

☐

Practice movement, vocal and characterization skills (transformation).

☐

Practice collaborating on production skills (ensemble).

CONSTRUCTING DRAMA

Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.

☐

Collaborate to write an original play script.

☐

Perform an original script.

☐

Create a design concept using concrete and symbolic props, costumes, sounds, lights, and set pieces.

☐

Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand).

APPLYING DRAMA

Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.

☐

Explain how the world of a play is similar to and different from daily life.

☐

Brainstorm how drama might help focus and resolve community problems.

☐

Discuss the role of drama in our lives today, including live performance, print, and electronic media.

Student, Parent, and Teacher Drama 4-6 Resources

The Drama Core builds a bridge between play and learning. In the years before kindergarten, when blankets thrown over tables became dangerous caves and parents' old clothes grew into brave, new explorers, playing at drama taught us about being human. Beginning with kindergarten, the drama core helps us learn how to work together when we are people in a place with a problem to solve. Walking in the shoes of others helps us understand others and participate successfully in the making of a neighborhood - be it of people next door or people around the world.

McCaslin, Nellie. Creative Drama in the Classroom and Beyond. New York: Longman, Inc., 2000. (ISBN: 0-8013-3073-4)

Annotation: Nellie takes the teacher from hands on simple drama activities through the "how to" skills of putting on a play. Her lesson plan ideas are richly based in children's literature, demanding a continuous application of reading and writing skills along with the drama skills that provide K-6 students with an exciting learning medium.

Wills, Barbara Salisbury. Theatre Arts in the Elementary Classroom: Grade Four through Grade Six. New Orleans, LA: Anchorage Press, Inc., 1996. (ISBN: 0-87602-034-3)

Annotation: Where Nellie McCaslin is comprehensive, Wills is grade specific in her presentation of drama curriculum ideas and skills for the K-6 classroom.

O'Neill, Cecily & Lambert, Alan. Drama Structures. Portsmouth, NH: Heinemann, 1990. (ISBN: 0-435-08608-1)

Annotation: The easy to follow "process drama" strategies presented in this book will allow teachers in grades 4-6 to easily integrate curricular content from social studies and state, national and world history through "process drama." This is a wonderful but somewhat advanced methods book.

For resources visit the Fine Arts Web Page
<http://www.usoe.k12.ut.us/curr/fineart>

Fifth Grade

Teacher Edition

Classroom Teacher _____

Year _____

| | | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Key: Students  = Work in Progress  = Competency Achieved | Teachers Mtns =  = Stars | Students' Final Results  Mountains  Stars |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

ANALYZING DRAMA

Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.

-  Discuss plot elements (main characters, suspense, unity, and meaning in a novel or play).
-  Analyze character function and motivation in a novel or play.
-  Ask about anything in a novel or play not understood.

PRACTICING DRAMA

Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.

-  Practice relaxing, concentrating, visualizing, and imagining.
-  Practice movement, vocal and characterization skills (transformation).
-  Practice collaborating on production skills (ensemble).

CONSTRUCTING DRAMA

Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.

-  Collaborate to write an original play script.
-  Perform an original script.
-  Create a design concept using concrete and symbolic props, costumes, sounds, lights, and set pieces.
-  Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand).

APPLYING DRAMA

Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.

-  Explain how the world of a play is similar to and different from daily life.
-  Brainstorm how drama might help focus and resolve community problems.
-  Discuss the role of drama in our lives today, including live performance, print, and electronic media.

Student _____ Teacher _____

Sixth Grade Drama Targets

= Work in Progress

= Competency Achieved

ANALYZING DRAMA

Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.

Discuss plot elements (main characters, motivation, suspense, unity, and meaning in a published play).

Analyze published play scripts.

Ask about anything in a published play script not understood.

PRACTICING DRAMA

Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.

Practice warm-ups rituals, movement, vocal, character, and technical theatre skills.

Practice researching and building characters from different cultures and different times in history.

Practice collaborating on production skills (ensemble).

CONSTRUCTING DRAMA

Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.

Collaborate to write an original play script.

Perform an original script.

Create a design concept using concrete and symbolic props, costumes, sounds, lights, and set pieces.

Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand).

APPLYING DRAMA

Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.

Explain how the world of a play is similar to and different from daily life.

Brainstorm how drama might help focus and resolve community problems.

Discuss the role of drama in our lives today, including live performance, print, and electronic media.

Student, Parent, and Teacher Drama 4-6 Resources

The Drama Core builds a bridge between play and learning. In the years before kindergarten, when blankets thrown over tables became dangerous caves and parents' old clothes grew into brave, new explorers, playing at drama taught us about being human. Beginning with kindergarten, the drama core helps us learn how to work together when we are people in a place with a problem to solve. Walking in the shoes of others helps us understand others and participate successfully in the making of a neighborhood - be it of people next door or people around the world.

McCaslin, Nellie. Creative Drama in the Classroom and Beyond. New York: Longman, Inc., 2000. (ISBN: 0-8013-3073-4)

Annotation: Nellie takes the teacher from hands on simple drama activities through the "how to" skills of putting on a play. Her lesson plan ideas are richly based in children's literature, demanding a continuous application of reading and writing skills along with the drama skills that provide K-6 students with an exciting learning medium.

Wills, Barbara Salisbury. Theatre Arts in the Elementary Classroom: Grade Four through Grade Six. New Orleans, LA: Anchorage Press, Inc., 1996. (ISBN: 0-87602-034-3)

Annotation: Where Nellie McCaslin is comprehensive, Wills is grade specific in her presentation of drama curriculum ideas and skills for the K-6 classroom.

O'Neill, Cecily & Lambert, Alan. Drama Structures. Portsmouth, NH: Heinemann, 1990. (ISBN: 0-435-08608-1)

Annotation: The easy to follow "process drama" strategies presented in this book will allow teachers in grades 4-6 to easily integrate curricular content from social studies and state, national and world history through "process drama." This is a wonderful but somewhat advanced methods book.

For resources visit the Fine Arts Web Page
<http://www.usoe.k12.ut.us/curr/fineart>

| | | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Key: Students  = Work in Progress  = Competency Achieved | Teachers Mtns =  = Stars | Students' Final Results  Mountains  Stars |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

ANALYZING DRAMA

Students will analyze plot, performance, and production.

-  Discuss plot elements (main characters, motivation, suspense, unity, and meaning in a published play).
-  Analyze published play scripts.
-  Ask about anything in a published play script not understood.

PRACTICING DRAMA

Students will practice drama skills and ensemble work.

-  Practice warm-ups rituals, movement, vocal, character, and technical theatre skills.
-  Practice researching and building characters from different cultures and different times in history.
-  Practice collaborating on production skills (ensemble).

CONSTRUCTING DRAMA

Students will make dramatic presentations for themselves and others and discuss their creative work.

-  Collaborate to write an original play script.
-  Perform an original script.
-  Create a design concept using concrete and symbolic props, costumes, sounds, lights, and set pieces.
-  Evaluate work (plan improve, repeat, expand).

APPLYING DRAMA

Students explore personal preferences, performance mediums, and cultural and historical contexts.

-  Explain how the world of a play is similar to and different from daily life.
-  Brainstorm how drama might help focus and resolve community problems.
-  Discuss the role of drama in our lives today, including live performance, print, and electronic media.

